

Welcome to Realty Radio Network. Here you will find an amazing new device you can place in any home for sale, and when cars pass by they can tune into a local FM station and listen to the home sell itself in high fidelity stereo, right from the curb!

Recorded into the Realty Radio Broadcaster is a CD quality full length virtual audio tour of the home. Capture your buyers immediately with this powerful new technology.

The Realty Radio Broadcaster is a very simple device to use.

Either record a message on your computer or record a message directly into the unit with an external microphone. If you want the best of the best you can hire a professional "voice" to create your broadcast and really WOW your potential buyers.

Audio recorded on your PC or by a professional normally comes in a compressed audio format called a MP3 or WMA, our unit is able to playback these high quality audio files. The files are transferred to the unit via a "flash memory card", these are the same cards you find in all your digital cameras.

So once you're ready to transmit from the home for sale, you simply locate the unit near the front of the house, plug in the power cord, set the channel you want to use, and you're done. If the power goes out the unit will come back on by itself and start over where it left off.... no need to worry about disruptions.

A brief comparison chart can be found to the right, it outlines the difference between us and the competition.
